Neeta Halai Art

Sending you a piece of my 'art'...

Neeta is a London born artist whose love of art is influenced by many western artists and in particular Picasso, Kandinsky, Miro and Britto.

With her Indian heritage, from a young age Neeta has always been surrounded by bold and vibrant colours which influence her art in a very contemporary way.

As a lawyer, Neeta's art work is influenced by her strong work ethic and high expectations. Her experiences in her cognitive world of structure and deadlines complement her creative world of movement and rhythm - seamlessly.

Neeta's art work has been described by an art critic as:

Neeta has a really good sense of shape and line, the work flows and shapes fit together and also conflict in places (very clever); her sense of composition is really lovely, and she manages to visually describe a balance of positive and negative space in a very contemporary way...

... I like her use of facial features which she has depicted stylistically and in a stripped away simplified manner so that these also appear as 'shape', as opposed to detailed faces.

—”

Neeta looks forward to hearing your thoughts...
